Two former Heads of School at Careers Day 2022

Philanthropic impact

2021-2022

Meet Bryanston's Development Committee

The Development Committee plays an integral role on the Bryanston Board of Trustees, in the fundraising initiatives for the School and bringing together our community.

They meet regularly during the year to provide strategic support and monitor progress.

Philanthropy meaning
"love of humanity" Greek playwright
Aeschylus coined the phrase in the 5th century BCE.

Greetings from the Head

Welcome to the Philanthropic Impact Report 2021-2022.

Everyone at Bryanston is incredibly grateful to all of our benefactors. Your donations allow us to provide life-changing bursarial support and expediate projects that enhance the Bryanston education for all our students.

Your support embodies the role Bryanston places in education. Put simply, there is no other School that comes close to offering the kind of approach we do. We all should be proud of that.

The role and contribution of independent school education is being debated at the highest level in the UK. The sector faces the ever-increasing possibility of a reduction in benefits from charity status. This may include loss of business rate relief and VAT being introduced on school fees. Any combination will have a significant impact. Dynamic, creative and outward facing solutions will be imperative to protect the value we bring to education. With this in mind, I think we can learn a great deal from the American educational fundraising system where in 2021, total giving to colleges and universities reached $52.9 billion, up 5.1% on 2020. We are not a school that is blessed with a large foundation, and as Head, I am fully committed to securing further support from our community and beyond that will allow us to weather any political and financial pressures.

It is an exciting time for Bryanston. We will harness and use our innate creative thinking to ensure every opportunity is delivered. We are moving swiftly to ensure the School is match fit and responsive to change. With the benefit of our dedicated and giving community beside us we can move mountains. We can increase our social mobility pathways for talented young people and sustain the vital role we have in providing an innovative and unique education.

As we plan to celebrate our centenary in 2028, the School is galvanising itself to ensure that we continue to champion Et Nova et Vetera into the future. I hope you will choose to continue to join us on our exciting adventure. If you would like to discuss any part of this report I would love to hear from you at development@bryanston.co.uk.

Thank you for all that you do for Bryanston.

Meet Director of Development - Victoria Fangen Hall

First coined by the Greek playwright Aeschylus in the 5th century BCE, two and a half thousand years later the word philanthropy is still very much in use today. Whilst the meaning may have moved from a focus on love of humanity to highlighting generosity in all forms, kindness is still the overriding attribute. Nowadays it is often used to define actions that help make life better for others through the giving of time, sharing talent and of donating financial support.

I am delighted that this report celebrates all those within the Bryanston family who during 2021-2022 have done just this. I hope you enjoy reading about the projects and opportunities that have been possible due to the collective generosity of our community and the positive outcomes for our pupils. Providing opportunity is one of Bryanston's guiding principles and enabling pupils to find and pursue their talent wherever it lies remains as important today as it always has been. As the world rebuilds after the Covid-19 pandemic and with new factors impacting our daily lives, Bryanston is not immune to the ongoing economic issues that face us all. It is therefore wonderful that so many recognise this and help us, in whatever way possible to achieve our goals.

Helping to secure the financial future of Bryanston, widening access and opportunities for pupils to study here, and bringing the community together, remains the driving force of the Development Office. Gifts of all amounts matter and collectively enable wonderful things to happen. On behalf of all the young people who benefit from your support thank you to all of our benefactors, ambassadors and volunteers who contribute so generously. Having recently joined the School it is exciting to hear so many of you talk with such warmth and affection about Bryanston. As I learn more about this incredible School, I understand why, and the team and I, with your help, look forward to embedding philanthropy in all its different guises throughout our community.

IMPACT OF YOUR GIVING 2021–2022

Every donation to Bryanston makes a big impression and we ensure we maximise its impact. Whether you have supported the School financially or by volunteering your time or both, you provide opportunities for pupils here to learn more, look deeper and explore different experiences. You enable us to give the extra care and attention that marks out Bryanston's educational offering as transformational and unique for all our students.

For all our pupils it helps them to go farther than they imagined they could go.

Poet Laureate, Simon Armitage

Green Conference in June, welcomed 100 visiting students from six local schools

In these pages of our annual report, we celebrate our benefactors and the remarkable impact they make to the educational journey of our pupils.

A highlight of giving for 2021–2022 was Brygiving Week 2022.

Our very first online giving week was held in the spring of 2022 as an easy way for you to support the School.

- The School wanted to offer four Ukrainian pupils a fully funded education at Bryanston as a practical response to the war which resulted in the closure of most of the Schools and businesses. In just one week you donated over £31,400 to the Bursary Fund and this meant that the School was able to welcome five young Ukrainians for the start of term in September.
- In the same week, you gave a little over £13,000 to pupil enrichment projects. Gifts to the Bryanston Fund for pupil enrichment projects meant that:
 - The Green Committee were able to host their first Green Conference in June, welcoming 100 visiting students from six local schools.
 - The Education Summit was able to secure the highest calibre key-note speakers including the Poet Laureate, Simon Armitage, acclaimed children's author Michael Rosen, Afua Adom, David Weston, and Alex Lewis. A wonderful addition, was the pupil workshops giving our pupils a great opportunity to work alongside influencers in the education sector.
 - The well-being project leaders have been able to finalise refurbishments plans so pupils will have a multi-faith, spiritual space in St. Anthony's Chapel in the Basement Corridor.

A special 'Thank you' to our Brygiving week ambassadors who liked, shared and supported our social media efforts to spread the word.

Harthan Hsm, Ms Pick, with Head of House, Ivy and Director of Development, Victoria Fangen Hall

The whole week was made more fun by our House Challenge and it was neck and neck all the way to the winning post with Portman, Dorset and Harthan all boasting the most supporters. Their prize was a visit from the Bryanston food truck stocked full of Christmas goodies delivered by Head Richard Jones.

Who will be our leaders next year?!

Introducing Valencia Haynes

Chair of the Bryanston Parents' Association

The Bryanston Parents' Association is, like so many things at Bryanston, unique to Bryanston.

Rather than the traditional parents' fundraising group, the BPA collects a small contribution from parents each term to partner with the School and support requests from the teachers and Hsms to support projects to benefit the students. The BPA really takes the time to consider each request, ranging from simple items such as juicers to encourage healthier eating, to large projects such as the most recent, hugely popular, Bry Radio. The daily broadcast not only provides news and music, but also as an activity option, it opens the possibilities of a career in radio, most recently helping one student to land a job.

In response to the Covid-19 pandemic, the BPA purchased a BBQ hut to enable more outdoor, tech-free learning and socialising. The BPA is also hugely proud to support the annual DT Scholarship, chosen by the Head of DT in honour of a much-loved teacher. It is always rewarding to hear how the award impacts the recipient's education.

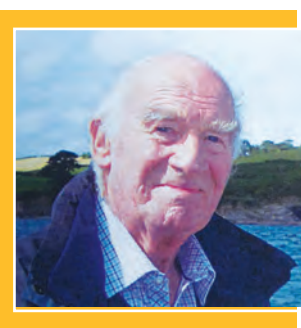

Another highlight of the term is awarding gift vouchers to staff members (nominated by their peers) who have gone that extra mile to do something kind for the pupils. We've also backed the ever-popular pool inflatables, landscaping for the skate park, and environmentally focussed ECAs such as Beekeeping and Pioneering.

For the parents, we play an important role in arranging Teen Tip workshops; mental health talks; the new Parents Directory, and of course a few fun socials.

I've really enjoyed being part of the BPA over the past five years, and my hope this year, as Chair, is to champion more family events, and most importantly, to continue supporting the teachers and staff who look after our children so brilliantly.

GIVING TO THE FUTURE

A bequest to Bryanston offers you an opportunity to make a gift during your lifetime that reflects your beliefs and values, while leaving a meaningful legacy that supports the aims of the School.

This year we are proud to have been remembered by OB, David Matcham (P '52).

We are delighted to announce that David's legacy will launch Bryanston's interactive heritage timeline project with our chosen partner, SDS Group.

Bryanston's pioneers have volunteered to help select milestone documents from the School's archives to make full use of our diverse collections of photographs, records and historical ephemera to represent Bryanston's history.

To acknowledge David's legacy of bringing Bryanston's story to the world, we will be including a digital plaque on the heritage site when it goes live.

His gift has been generously matched by his children, Rachel and Tim in memory of their father and the love he had for his alma mater. We are enormously grateful to the Matcham family for bringing this project alive as we lead into our centenary celebrations.

Legacy giving adds several advantages to your estate in the form of significant tax benefits.

For example, as a charitable donation it will not count towards the taxable value of your estate. You can therefore cut the inheritance tax rate of the rest of your estate by leaving a percentage of the estate to charity.

At Bryanston, we are pleased to recognise those benefactors who notify us that they have chosen to remember us in their Will with automatic enrolment into The Coade Society. Coade Society members will receive either a beautiful pair of solid silver cufflinks or a silver brooch, as well as an annual invitation to lunch with the Head for an inside view on the School's progress and aspirations.

COADE SOCIETY MEMBERS

The Coade Society provides an opportunity for the School to thank and acknowledge the generosity, during their lifetime, of all who have named Bryanston as a beneficiary in their Will.

Most popular social media post of the year

On International Women’s Day we were so proud to share the story of Fran Townsend (G ‘OO). I hope you are as thrilled for Fran as we are!

‘On 16th October 2013, I was travelling along the M4, back to the hospital I was on placement at as a final year medical student. During this journey I witnessed an RTA, and as an almost qualified doctor, stopped to provide assistance to those involved. While I was providing First Aid to the passenger, who had been thrown from the vehicle, onto the hard shoulder, a second accident occurred, where I sustained life threatening, and life changing injuries, being told I would be in a wheelchair for the rest of my life. I spent 5 months as an in patient in various NHS hospitals before being admitted to Headley Court for 18 months of rehab, where I learnt to walk again.

You can read more about Fran in our OB magazine, BryLife which accompanies this report.

Following this, I joined the Help for Heroes Sports Recovery Program and it is due to this program that I have been able to find a sport I can compete in as a ‘para’ athlete, in able bodied competition, at elite level, having placed second at the FIP Ladies European Polo Championships, held in Italy at the end of September 2021. Finishing as Silver Medalists despite being the only team with a para player was a huge achievement, and meant that the England team qualified for the World Championships being held in Argentina between 8th–17th April 2022. Last week the Hurlingham Polo Association confirmed the same team has been selected to represent England at the World Championships.’

Summary of giving

The Head and Governors are extremely grateful to everyone who has supported Bryanston in the academic year 2021–2022.

Volunteers supporting our pupils

Celebrating our volunteers

Volunteering – a win win for everyone.

A huge thank you to everyone who has volunteered their time for our pupils. We are proud to acknowledge those who have given so generously of their time and talent to benefit our pupils for the academic year 2021–2022. You are fantastic and we thank you for all that you do to enhance the educational experience of our pupils.

In whatever way you have given: a Masterclass, a careers talk, participated in our Higher Education Forum, Careers Day, current affairs talk, recorded a video or any other way; you add enormous value to our pupils learning.

Your time volunteering provides the following benefits:

- Hearing from volunteers helps to excite our pupils about subjects, increases motivation, confidence, and attitude to learning.
- When students have encounters with volunteers from businesses it has benefits to their educational outcomes. Recent research found that meeting real life role models from the world of work improves academic attainment, increases young people's earning potential, broadens young peoples' horizons and raises their aspirations.

And the win win is that you also benefit from volunteering at Bryanston:

The Education and Employers Charity released their 'Value of Volunteering' research report in early 2021, which examined the multiple benefits of volunteering in Schools for individuals, employers and young people alike. It showed a direct correlation between educational volunteering and both career development and health and well-being.

The Value of Volunteer report found:

- Skills & Competencies: 80% or more reported benefits for communication, influencing and relationship skills with over half reporting benefits for leadership and decision-making.
- Productivity & Career Gains: 26% report greater productivity at work, with 44% reporting manager recognition for the impact of their volunteering. More than a third even said volunteering helps them apply for different or more senior roles.
- Motivation & Mission: 79% reported improvements to their sense of mission at work as a result of volunteering in education – and 68% reported greater motivation at work.
- Volunteers know what they do makes a difference: over 99% of volunteers describe impacts for young people and 94% felt they gained a better understanding of society and social issues.

There are few better ways to develop personal and professional skills than by volunteering at Bryanston.

Thank you to our volunteers

WHERE YOU CAN SUPPORT

We invite you to give your charitable support to our pupils in the following key areas.

The Bursary Fund

Bursaries are one of the key ways that our School community ensures we are fully representative of the world we are all a part of. We know that the benefits to our community are deeply enhanced when our student body more accurately reflects this. Our bursary programme is the pathway into Bryanston for those pupils with limited financial means, and who we would very much like to be part of the Bryanston family.

It is a fact that while talent is spread evenly throughout society, opportunity is not. Many successful futures are created through gifts to the Bryanston Bursary Fund.

Other bursary funds worthy of your support include The Peter Hardy Bursary, to provide financial assistance to a pupil whose attitude and characteristics will be a role model to the student body, and The Teddy Potter Bursary, to support a talented pupil in the maths or science subjects.

From the individual and their communities, the effects of a bursary are far reaching.

The Bryanston Fund

– Enriching Pupils' Education

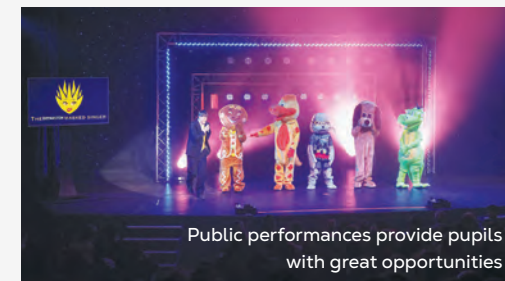

Enrichment benefits students mentally, socially and physically. They make a school more like a second home, a place where there is room for work and for play. Most importantly, it helps to develop the whole child, enabling them to develop their interests and talents.

Extra-curricular activities (ECAs) give pupils a range of ways they can develop their character, including resilience, confidence, leadership and independence. It is essential to preparing them for a successful adulthood.

World class speakers like Sir Tom Stoppard.

In 2023 we will continue to support our pupils' aspirations and well-being through enrichment activities such as The Green Conference, pioneering, community projects and the Bryanston heritage archive digitisation.

SIXTH FORM BURSARY SEATS

The Sixth Form are passionate about giving other young people like them the chance of a Bryanston education and have come up with their own idea of how to thank those donors who choose to make a bursary donation to the School.

For every donation of £300 or more to the Bursary Fund, they will thank the benefactor by putting a name plaque on a chair in the Mark Elder Concert Hall.

The plaque will stay in place for one year and will be renewable.

It is the perfect way to celebrate a birthday, wedding or anniversary, honour a milestone, to remember someone special, or commemorate your time at Bryanston. Whatever your reason, a name plaque will allow you to mark your support in the concert hall and to return each year to listen to a concert or come to an event in this celebratory space.

Each name-plate can be printed with your name or dedicated to someone special to you. As soon as the plaque is ready, we will get in touch. You are then very welcome to visit to see the plate in situ.

In the lead up to our 100th anniversary, the Heads of School hope to create this as a new tradition for each year group to pass on to the next, and in this way ensure that young people, like them, will always have the chance of gaining a Sixth Form place at Bryanston, irrespective of their financial circumstances.

Heads of School 2021–2022, Spencer and Esme, and Heads of School 2022–2023, Oli and Bryanna would be delighted if you were to add your support to this innovative Sixth Form initiative.

The Sixth Form are hoping to see all 257 seats hosting a thank-you name as this will equate to having sufficient funding for a sixth form student place at Bryanston.

Seats are limited and donations are coming in fast. Contact the Development Office for how to get involved, development@bryanston.co.uk

Spencer Davies (Sa '22)

"The A2 bursary project was spearheaded by the 2021–2022 Heads of School and continued by the 2022–2023 ones. The aim of it is simple, allow students both old and new to physically cement their legacy at Bryanston while also helping to send a student to this wonderful establishment. Its self-sustaining nature will allow future A2 year-groups to achieve this in a very real and impactful manner each year." Spencer Davies, HoS 2021–2022

SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Would you like your name on a racing car? Or perhaps your company would like to get its name out on the airwaves around the world?

The pupils have two great projects for you or your company to sponsor.

Bryanston Motor Racing can offer companies or individuals some great sponsorship opportunities that will support their efforts to build three competitive battery powered cars. Consistently gaining a place in national Greenpower Racing finals, this extra-curricular activity takes pupils on an engineering, car design and teamworking journey from concept to racetrack.

GOLDCREST
DISTRIBUTION · FINANCE · PRODUCTION · POST

With thanks to Goldcrest for sponsoring the team in 2021–2022.

Bry.Radio has lots to offer potential sponsors or advertisers. You can sponsor a show or perhaps the podcast series is more your thing. Whatever way you choose to get involved you will be supporting pupils to pursue their love of one of the most popular extra-curricular activities in the School. Bryanston's internet-based radio station BRY.RADIO plays out 24/7 across the world. Live shows go out each week from our state-of-the-art studio, playing the very best music from today and across the years.

For more information about sponsorship opportunities, please contact the Development Office.

Ways to give

We are always thrilled when OBs, parents and friends wish to support our pupils' education, whether that be by giving up their time to help pupils with their career options or making a financial donation towards their access to education or furthering educational opportunities.

There are lots of ways you can give to Bryanston and as a registered charity there can be tax benefits for financial gifts too.

Whatever way you choose, your gift will be valued, most gratefully received and go exactly where you expect it to.

Make a financial donation

A regular gift enables us to plan more effectively and is particularly important for our pupils needing financial assistance.

You can make your gift by direct debit, credit card, bank transfer either in person, over the telephone or online. Use the code to go to our digital donation form.

Scan the QR code to complete the Donation Form.

Gifts of shares or property

The giving of land, property or shares can be a highly tax effective way of donating as charitable gifts are exempt from Capital Gains Tax and Income Tax.

THE COADE SOCIETY - Leaving a legacy

When the time is right for you to remember a charity in your Will, please remember Bryanston.

The only information you need in order to leave a gift in your Will to Bryanston, is our registered address and charity number which can be found in this report, on our website and on any of our official documentation.

You do not have to tell us how much you have decided to gift but please do let us know your intentions so that we can say "Thank You". All those who inform us of their plans to make a bequest to Bryanston are invited to join the Coade Society, whose members meet annually for lunch.

We are also delighted to acknowledge your future gift to Bryanston with a small token of our appreciation, either a pair of silver cufflinks or a brooch.

To talk to us in confidence about leaving a gift in your Will, please contact the Development Team.
